Wheat Pool News Letter

Considerable progress has been made in the 1927 elevator program of the Wheat Pool. As a result of negotiations with elevator companies, forty-one elevators have been bought this year. In addition, fifty-seven have been contracted for where there are no existing facilities or where it is apparent the present owners have decided definitely not to do so. With regard to the balance of the program, negotiations are still in progress. It is the confident expectation of the directors that the full program will be carried out in sufficient time to have all the houses available for the reception of grain at the beginning of the next shipping season.

The financing of these purchases, and the new construction is being carried out entirely out of funds on hand as the result of the accumulation of the Elevator Reserve, deduction of 20¢ a bushel from the proceeds of the sale of members' wheat in the last two crop years, plus accumulation of deductions for Commercial Reserve covering the past three crop years when also may be used for acquiring of elevators, if required.

No promises of elevators on condition of a big up-put or second series contracts are being made. Elevators are being built or acquired at points where deliveries have been low during the past three years. The heaviest contribution to elevator funds are obviously from those points where the most wheat has been marketed.

Sign-Up Drive
The machinery for the campaign to put over the sign-up of the second series of Wheat Pool contracts has been put in motion. The drive will keep on Monday, June 20th, and it is expected to conclude a thorough canvass of the province.

The success with which co-operative wheat marketing in Canada has made its best history has won widespread admiration for the Pool organization. The possibilities for the future are vast. The great majority of Alberta people are interested in seeing a continuation of the Wheat Pool method of marketing.

The same reasons for the formation of the Wheat Pool in 1920 are applicable today. The Alberta farmer, without the assistance of the Pool, would be in a worse position. The best interests of the entire province demand a continuation of the Pool system of grain marketing.

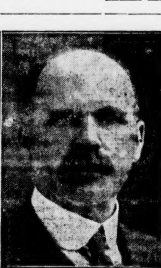

Bounties for Wolf Pells

Announcement of the bounties to be paid on wolves killed in the province is made by Game Commissioner, Lord Linton. The highest bounty is $20, which will be paid for female timber wolves, while male timber wolf pells will command $10. Adult prairie wolves (taken between April 20 and September 1) will be paid for at $2 a pelt and each wolf pup taken before July 1, will command $2. While prairie wolf and wolf pup pells upon payment of the bounty become the property of the provincial government, timber wolf pells, upon which bounties are paid, are to be sold through the provincial government fur marketing service, and the proceeds, less the expense of the commission, will be paid to the person receiving the bounty.

PREMIER TO VISIT THE OLD COUNTRY

The attitude of British industry and capital towards further investment in Western Canada and the possibility of establishing closer relations between Great Britain and this province will be one of the matters investigated by Premier Brownie in the course of a trip to the Old Country on which he expects to leave late in June. In addition to looking into the British emigration policy as it affects the province the Premier will make extensive inquiries into the possibility of enlarging the market for Alberta products in the Old Land.

SECOND FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

SELECTS CONFEDERATION HIGHWAY

Hon. D. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works for New Brunswick, who has selected a route from the Quebec boundary, near Edmundston, to the Nova Scotia boundary near Aulac, as a link in the proposed coast-to-coast motor route to be known as "Confederation Highway."

WINNIPEG, Man., June 13—After a careful survey of reports received from all agents and other reliable sources, the department of agriculture of the Canadian Pacific Railway submits the following preliminary estimate of 1927 wheat acreage in comparison with that of last season, feeling that the figures quoted are if anything on the conservative side.

Manitoba	1,714,275	2,285,838
Saskatchewan	1,959,072	13,277,804
Alberta	5,500,000	6,114,419
Total	19,473,347	25,428,141

Conditions in Alberta are excellent. Another week of good weather will bring all crops up to one hundred percent. Wheat seeding is completed also coarse grains except in delayed districts. Ground is being prepared for green feed with some timothy, clover and new breaking well under way. Pasture conditions are good and alfalfa crops are improving with an abundant hay crop expected.

Emergency Home Helpers' Training

For the last few years the Department of Health and Agriculture have been considering the need and desirability of preparing a scheme of training for Emergency Home Helpers. The Advisory Board of the Department has since sent a resolution to the minister of Health and Agriculture asking him to make arrangements for a course of training in regard to this condition. The Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Health and Agriculture has a tentative scheme outlined, and he sent this outline to the Board. The Board submitted the scheme to the delegates attending the Provincial Convention of the Women's Institute, and they passed a motion unanimously approving of the scheme, and asking that the first course be started in April of 1928.

From early sources suggestions have come that this course be made a nursing, housekeeper course. The Department cannot consider such a course. If midwives are wanted they must have such a training that the service will be a safe and efficient one. Some of the students taking the Emergency Home Helpers Training may feel that they wish to go further and take midwifery training and many people in the province may feel that a service of this kind is what they need. If there is such a feeling and a want for this service, it is demonstrated to the Department that such is the case, then the Department is prepared to take the necessary steps to put on training for midwives.

Following the formation of the Wheat Pool, Premier Gardiner predicted that those who looked for the Saskatchewan Pool to fall were in for a serious disappointment. Hon. Mr. Bennett said that the failure of the Alberta Pool would be a disaster, and that the province would be in a worse position than it was in 1920.

"MEN'S BETTER WEAR"

Resolved that: "All goods which may be procured in one's local town should be purchased in that town."

Affirmative—
1. One of the greatest factors in the developing of the community spirit, and the upbuilding of social institutions in any community is the factor of home trade.

2. Very few places have become worthwhile community centers except the spirit of trading at home has first been developed.

3. The local merchant is ready to extend a reasonable line of credit to his customers in lean years or before the crop is harvested, this is of a distinct advantage to the community as a whole, and cannot usually be obtained in cities.

4. If most of the trading is done at home the population of our towns will be increased, which will support better schools, better churches and better places of amusement.

5. Town residents usually have a broader outlook on life than country folks and the fact that we have a more nearly urban population with more advanced ideas, will serve to disseminate culture more widely throughout the Province.

6. On account of the lower rent and lower taxes, goods are usually sold cheaper in country towns than in cities.

7. Land values are greatly increased where farms are near large towns.

8. It is the natural right of the local merchant in the trade of the district in which he is situated. He must live the same as any one else.

Negative—
1. It must be to one's advantage to trade in city stores rather than to trade in the local town, else our hardware merchants would not send to city stores for their groceries. Our grocery merchants send away for their hardware and sporting goods. These men should know and their examples should be worth following.

2. Credit as obtained in our local stores naturally causes higher prices than should exist on a cash basis. It is not the merchant who loses, but the buying public, for the merchant expects to make only a fair living, plus a reasonable savings in any case—therefore the city store operating on a cash basis would be more profitable as a trading center.

3. Yes, the population of our towns will be increased if our goods are made home grown, but it is better to make it easier to establish better social institutions. On the other hand the savings effected by buying in city stores could more than be enough to construct public halls, churches, local libraries, etc.

4. If we are to have efficient distribution centers in the west we must cease to building large cities—this will increase the Provincial population to a greater degree than will the development of smaller towns. Manufacturing centres follow, naturally, the population.

5. Trading in cities naturally gives more frequent trips to the cities, thus one comes in contact with people of latest ideas and naturally develops stronger personalities.

6. Land values increase as it becomes more and more convenient to get to the buying and selling centers. With the trucking systems, which are becoming the order of the day in all parts of the country, city living has become often more convenient than country buying.

7. The local merchant has a right to the trade of the district only when he carries sufficient stocks, renders courteous service, offers fair prices, and catering to no faction or clique of people becomes a leader in any effort which will tend to develop other departments of the community.

8. To say that any merchant has a natural right to the trade of the district would imply the resultant discussion, viz. that the buying public has a right to dictate the management of that store, which would imply co-operative stores only.

9. That townspeople do not have a broader outlook upon life than country folks is proven by the fact that most movements which have resulted in the minds of boys from the farm. Farmer and labor groups have always been more efficient than city groups in the fight against corruption. Therefore, the introduction of urban people would not tend to disseminate culture and a broad outlook upon life.

Rebuttal
We have proven that very few stores have become worthwhile as community centers except home trade has been first developed. Since most local merchants will meet the prices of any out-of-town store for goods of same quality, with freight added, there is little reason for giving a foreign community the benefit of our trade if in our local towns we find courteous service, good stocks and high prices. Who will question these points?

SPORT NOTES

RED SOX SHOWING MUCH IMPROVEMENT

While Bill Carrigan won't nose into the first division with the Boston Red Sox and he may not improve the position of the club over last year—which was last place—the outfit can no longer be considered a setup for any other club in the league. Bill has ten playing ball every second they are on the ball field, but what should sound better to Boston fans is he is developing some young pitching strength.

Carrigan always was a great hand with pitchers. Many other catchers and greater mechanical ability than he has—even in his best days—but there were none of them who knew how to handle pitchers better and could study opposing batters with better results. Bill isn't behind the log these days—on his return to baseball after ten years absence—but he is sitting on the bench watching every move of his pitchers and studying the weaknesses of opposing batters.

On comparing the present swing around the circle he will know more about those batters than some of the fellows who have been watching them for years and that same knowledge is going to be used to their disadvantage later. Carrigan has taken his young pitchers in hand himself, and he is, in any way of important knowledge to them they'll know a lot about the game by the end of the season, and a number of clubs will discover that the Boston Red Sox are a tough proposition to beat.

A manager must have a ball club to win games and Carrigan has one in name only. He cannot be expected to pull a miracle this year. But watch his smoke as the season progresses and then next year. Although he only has a one-year contract it is certain he will be back for he doesn't stand apparently being with a tail end. He is gentle, slow of speech and has a smile, but those gray eyes can turn to steel and that square jaw is not uncharacteristically when action demands. His players like him but they respect him and know he means business.

He has a young ball club—26, the oldest is the oldest. A number of them are not yet 21. But he likes a young team. He claims it will last and will learn and that two or three years will make it into a winning combination. He considers his club fairly fast—the likes speed. But above all he likes intelligent pitching. That is what he is trying to secure and the results already obtained indicate that he is on his way.

Carrigan doesn't think much of present day pitching, at least as compared with ten years ago. He attributes increased hitting to poorer pitching, not better hitting. Yet his team

GOLF

The Laidlaw Province gives the following instructions, written by a Scotchman named the McGowan, we pass them on to the tender mercies of the members of the Golf Club, and the good of the club, and the good of the province, W. O. Whiteside and Mr. Van Zanten, and if they are misleading they can afford the time to go up to Inverness and kill him—possibly a Scotchman with such a name should be executed.

The Drive

At the outset of this article I should like to impress upon the reader how very important are the details of the address, and how much the success of the drive depends on the way in which the player prepares for it in the forehand. If, then, it is proposed to follow the instructions laid down below for making a successful drive, it will be necessary to take up the stance, exactly as suggested, for the principles of the drive are dependent on this being done.

It is very likely that among a multitude of instructions the reader may get lost, and it would be well for him if, for a moment or two, he could hold them out at arm's length and see what they are really about; to get, as it were, an insight into the underlying motive. If he could do this there are two things that I should like him to see. First, that one of the chief objects of the instruction is to enable him to maintain the blow after impact, and secondly, that not for a moment during the swing must he lose a sense of the position of the club head. These two truths appear to me to be of prime importance.

The Address—Slightly open, with the ball in line with the left heel. The right foot square to the line at heel, the weight well forward on the toes. The right knee bent forward and inward towards the ball. The hands low and close to the body. The club

DOUBLE DALE IS A GREAT HORSE

A Layzell is all "hot up" over securing the services of the imported thoroughbred stallion "Double Dale" through the Dominion Government, Department of Agriculture, at a nominal service fee of $10.

"Double Dale", says old man Layzell, is sure bred in the purple, and stands in the same position as a King's Premier Horse in England.

"Double Dale" was awarded the silver medal given by the Hunters' Improvement Society in England. It will only be a short time, says "Daddy" Layzell, until "Double Dale's" colts will be in real demand and realize fancy prices. He is very anxious to see a number among his Strathmore friends, whom he numbers by the score.

REFUSES $500 FOR CHIMEFAST, A PACER

CLEVELAND—Chimefast, a 3-year-old pacer, who has become the talk of the North Randall track this spring and has shown so much ability that his owner has turned him over to a $500 offer for his first week his fastest mile was in 2:15, but he stepped a final quarter in 0:24, with such apparent ease that the owners were set to wonder how fast he really could go if asked to.

grounded on the heel. Tight grip with the left. Both elbows hugging the body. The left shoulder well in and braced—like hips and legs relaxed.

Back Swing—Straighten the right leg, this draws the right hip and draws the backwards along the line of flight. At the same time it takes back both hands in advance of the club head. This straightening of the right leg is really the most important part of the back swing as it lays the foundation of the stroke.

At this point brace the right leg firmly—especially from the knee downwards—and, by means of the left hand, along the club-head back and upwards, keeping it moving as long as possible along the line of flight. The backward movement of the arms should be stopped by the left shoulder, which in turn, will be checked and held in position by the locking of the right hip. Thus the extent to which the right hip is allowed to twist above the knee determines the extent of the pivot. Pivoting is a screwing at the hips and not at the shoulders, and it is important that from the very beginning of the pivoting movement, the muscles of the back should have the left shoulder well under control. It is otherwise the body is virtually cut out of the stroke and a feeble arm movement results.

Be careful in this backward movement to keep the left elbow down and in, and to cut the right hand out of the stroke.

Down Swing—Begin by bringing the hands downwards towards the ball, not outwards towards the ball, holding the left hand for the purpose. Endeavor to keep this arm straight. Meanwhile the left hip is coming back again to the position in the address.

A Gathering With a Purpose

The audience was just beginning to assemble, and the hour was almost 8:00 p.m.

Farmers were much in evidence and were overheard discussing farming problems of various sorts. One man was questioning to his neighbors the Wheatland Dye House and telling them how it prevented soil blowing.

There sat John C. Buckley M.L.A., and a few seats away from him A. M. Thomson, yet a little further over was G. Thirkell Foreman, father of Mrs. M. H. Ward. H. W. Wood in his matter of course manner walked down the side aisle, and seated himself directly in front of Mr. Buckley, but a moment later arose, walked deliberately to the stage entrance, and disappeared behind the scenes, there to associate for a few moments with some of the leading men of this and other Provinces.

The setting was in the Grand Theatre, Calgary, the evening of June eighth—the occasion being the Wheat Pool Rally.

The formality of singing "O Canada" being dispensed with, the chairman, R. W. Gardiner M.P., introduced the Premier of Alberta, Hon. J. E. Brownlee, who spoke for about three-quarters of an hour.

Mr. Brownlee spoke of the improved conditions of the Province, which he attributed largely, though not entirely, to the Wheat Pool.

"The Wheat Pool," said Mr. Brownlee, "has brought the farmer to the place where he finances largely on last year's crop, rather than upon the one that is to come." "I cannot see how the grain companies can be said to have the same interests as the farmers," he remarked. "True enough, these organizations have played their part, but finally the time came when necessity demanded that the farmer handle not only his wheat through the elevators, but that he should handle the export end of the business. The time was ripe and it required only a 1925 to bring it about."

Running His Business
Mr. Brownlee then spoke of the article by Dr. Robert Magill, Secretary of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, under the heading of "Danger to the Canadian Wheat Market," which was published in The Bow River News of last week. "He says the Pool is nothing new, well, it is, certainly, conceived and operated by farmers, and not by those who have other interests at stake."

Co-operative Marketing World-wide Success
"The third reason I believe in the Wheat Pool is because it is following the trend of events which are taking place throughout the civilized world today. Co-operative marketing is taking the field in Australia, the United States, and throughout the world."

"While in the States I made it my business to talk to as many people on this subject as possible. I talked to the editor of one of the leading papers—a man who perhaps has as good a touch with the farm field as any man in the country. He said that co-operative marketing is rapidly advancing as to amount of farm commodities marketed, and said that in a short generation of twenty years, if the present rate of advance continues, the farming industry of that country will be just one big co-operative marketing institution. Co-operative marketing is no new thing, and if it were not worth while, it would not be so constantly gaining the field."

World-Wide Pools
"Just so long as you meet wheat in competition with individual farmers in other countries, they are working in adverse direction to their own interests." Mr. Brownlee continued by saying that he believes that the work done by the Wheat Pool in Western Canada for the last four years has been of international importance. That most of the time spent at the recent International Wheat Pool Conference was devoted to discussing the Western Canada Wheat Pool, and that he feels that the farmers of Western Canada have set a great example for the farmers of the world.

Premier Gardiner Speaks
The next speaker was Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Premier of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Gardiner gave an illuminating address, full of expression. He showed that the amount of export wheat which Canada produces is no small factor on the wheat markets of the world. The annual crop of export wheat, he showed to run about as follows: Canada, 7,100,000 tons; Australia, 5,100,000 tons; Argentina, 3,200,000 tons; and the U.S., 2,800,000 tons.

"This," said Premier Gardiner, "represents eight-ninths of the exportable wheat of the world, and this, eight-ninths, Canada exports about two-fifths."

Pool Big Factor
Of the 7,100,000 tons of export wheat produced in Canada, the Pool of 1925 handled 5,100,000 tons, while the total export wheat of the world is only 18,400,000. So the Wheat Pool of Western Canada handles over one-fourth of the exportable wheat of the world.

Unbreakable From Without
"The Wheat Pool cannot ever be broken from opposition without its own ranks," said the Premier of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Gardiner showed how the Pool is able to borrow money to advance money on the wheat at the same rate of interest and on the same wheat, as security, as would be the case with any of the old line grain companies.

"They have said," he remarked, "that the Wheat Pool has placed all the risks on your shoulders and that if its agents offer wheat for sale on the markets of the world at a lower figure, they are not personally faced with bankruptcy. Yes, all the risks are placed on your shoulders! Well, do you know of anyone who ever carried any risks for you?"

Safer Loans
"We are doing less business with the banks, but their loans are safer, today," said the Premier.

Surprise in Store
"There is a real surprise in store for any individual or group of individuals who hope to prevent the next sign-up of Wheat Pool members in Saskatchewan. We feel that our sign-up for the next five years is now assured," he concluded.

Bennett Takes Platform
R. B. Bennett, K.C.M.P., then delivered an eloquent, interesting and stirring address, boosting the Pool and springing a number of bits of humor, such as comparing the Farmers of Alberta and Saskatchewan to "Matt and Jeff," etc.

H. W. Wood, U. S. Consul, Remy R. J. Dunning, Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Cabinet and others were on the platform.

The Grand Theatre was well filled. The Editor, unfortunately, did not attend the afternoon session, it is said that some very worthwhile addresses were delivered. Those of you who did not listen in on the radio, can get the report through the next issue of the U.F.A. magazine.

WHEN WARNING WILL BE TOO LATE

(Ottawa Citizen)

Vicent Gray has stated solemnly that another war will mean the downfall of civilization. When an opportunity is taken to point to the preparation of detailed plans for military campaigns, the vigorous critic will be once spring forward to inject in the public mind, to effect any warning, for only time that warning can be uttered is before the possible outbreak is more than remotely in sight.

When civilization is shaking, as Vicent Gray says it is, when the plans for the next war are put into operation, it will be too late to discuss the possibility of moving along paths away from war. Lloyd George is quoted as having expressed great regret that a breach with Russia should have been made, "for only time that warning can be uttered is before the possible outbreak is more than remotely in sight."

There is only one thing left, that is the thunderbolt of war. What folly!

What madness!

SCHOOL FAIR SCHOLARSHIP SHORT COURSE AT OLDS

The Department of Agriculture is putting on at the Olds School of Agriculture, July 15th to 16th inclusive, a Scholarship Short Course, which will include the most successful girl and boy 1926 competitors in each of the various Fair Centres in the Central and Northern parts of the Province. This Scholarship Short Course will include two representatives from all of the School Fair Centres in this part of the Province.

About eighty boys and girls from the Olds Youngsters' Agricultural School district, and the Olds Agricultural School District, including the new Novia to Johnston and South to Calgary, and East from these places, will be in attendance.

The Short Course will cover a period of six days. The programme will include Live Stock, Field Crops, Dairying, Mechanics, Sewing and Cooking. These subjects are all taught in our regular Agricultural and Domestic Science courses, respectively, and the training given during the Short Course week will serve as an introduction to our more advanced work. There will also be organized sports and games, motion pictures, and radio concerts. The pupils during the Short Course will be under the supervision of the members of the Staff of the school at all times. The expenses, including transportation and maintenance for each pupil will be met by the Department of Agriculture.

The boy and girl attaining the highest standing in general proficiency during the Short Course will be given one year's training free in the regular work at the Olds School of Agriculture.

For several years this Short Course has been carried out, and in the process it has proven to be a great stimulus in School Fair work, and is showing many girls and boys the possibilities of the Agricultural School.

S. Swenson expects to leave shortly for a motor trip to California.

P. E. Ryan, Rockyford, was in town on Tuesday, and reports that Rockyford has a real baseball team this year, made up in the main of a fine bunch of youngsters, who will have them all stepping to beat them.

The Baby Clinic will be held in Strathmore on Monday, June 27th.

Hector MacLennan, of Calgary, is spending a few days in town.

Dr. J. W. Giffen was playing favorites last week, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Walden, of Nanaka, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Snooks with fine girl babies.

"Tommy" Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Anderson, is making fine progress at the Calgary Hospital, and it is hoped that he may be able to come home shortly.

Mrs. Frank Miller was a week-end visitor at Coronation.

Constable and Mrs. Tate are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter on Tuesday night. Officer Tate was sure expecting a little Constable, but of late Dr. J. W. Giffen has been playing girl favorites. This "little one" brings the third in succession, to which the genial physician has surrendered.

E. Corbett, of Kathryn, was in town on Wednesday. Mr. Corbett, as usual, was all "popped up" in regard to the prospects for the Kathryn-Kooma School Fair, which he claims is going to be a real winner this year. He sure is an enthusiast over the benefits of School Fairs.

The curling scene is rather quiet, and George Quinn has a good deal of leisure time in the evenings when he is not in Calgary, and Ted Schulte is trying to locate another secretaryship to wish on George.

Mrs. Douglas French has undertaken to have the Girl Guides put on a Red Cross Tea Day on Saturday, June 18th. Tea will also be served in the old Strathmore Trading Co's store.

The preliminary arrangements have been made for the Strathmore Stampede, the date being set for July 26th.

The Red Cross appeals to YOU for support

SINCE the War, the Red Cross has disbursed over Seven Million Dollars for the Soldiers, Women, Children and Frontier Families of Canada.

About half of this has been spent for disabled soldiers—half in the other services of the Society about which you have been told. The Treasury is almost empty.

$1,000,000 Needed Now for Red Cross Work

The Red Cross brings cheer to our disabled warriors and their families. It stimulates the children of Canada to healthy living and good citizenship. It relieves suffering, and brings skilled attention to Canada's frontier districts remote from other aid. Its work is indispensable.

It now appeals to YOU, as a patriotic and humane Canadian citizen, to contribute generously to its need for funds.

HEARD ON THE STREET

A sweet young thing, upon parting from a young man at the C.P.R. station, was observed to go into tears as she, as she entered the coach. The manner in which she expressed her grief stirred the sympathy of Tony O'Grady, who was an east-bound passenger.

"My dear young lady," said Tony, in his inimitable style, "are you crying because you have to leave your husband?"

The maiden looked up tearfully. "N-no," she sobbed. "I'm crying because I'm going back to him."

Teacher: "Give me a sentence with the word tologian in it."

Pupil: "Mother went 't a boggan sale."

Stranger—I represent a society for the suppression of profanity. I want to take profanity entirely out of your life and—

Small boy—Hey, mother, here's a man who wants to buy dad's golf club.

Jim Weir: "I hear your sister married a struggling lawyer."

His friend: "Yes, he did struggle, but he didn't get away."

"Clarence," called a Calgary lady to her chauffeur. He stopped the car and looked around.

"I am not accustomed to call my chauffeurs by their first name. Clarence. What is your surname?"

"Darling, madam."

"Drive on, Clarence."

Parson: "Why do you desire to join the church?"

Maatut: "Palson, I've got a job puttin' a roof on a chicken house and fencin' a matelmon patch, an' ah needs strengthenin'."

Gene Groux says it is nothing to brag about for skinny people to be modest.

Adam: "Pardon me, but I think your dress is very pleasing."

Flapper: "That's all right. Glad you like it."

Adam: "Yes, it reminds me so much of the charming costume my first wife used to wear."

Jim Moran is a mighty fine plumber, but as head cook at home while Mrs. Moran is away on a holiday, Jim is the limit.

Mother (severely): "How dare you take the money from my missionary box?"

Willie: "Didn't you say I was a terrible little hound?"

"You are far worse."

"Well, I was saving the money for the henthies; and first come first served."

A correspondent writes as follows: "Dear Editor: Please tell me the address of a most reliable fortune teller." Editor: "Bradstreet's, Calgary."

Jack Taylor enquires: "Where is the old fashioned girl who used to spend Saturday mornings breakfasting into lamp chimneys and cleaning them with an old newspaper?"

She is apt to have a daughter who spends most of her time breakfasting into a compact mirror and re-outlining the cupid's low on her line.

Bobby Hambley: "Say, Jim. Can you tell me the name of Noah's wife?" Jim Swanson: "Sure, Joan of Arc. Don't ask such silly questions."

The beautiful girl in the Club Cafe, Calgary, leaned back languidly. It had been a wonderful dinner. In the soft glow of the shielded lights she had eaten the meal of merriment. And he had been so attentive, yet so unobtrusive. He had carefully ordered for her, and had said never an unnecessary word, or made a gesture to spoil the spell. She felt she could love a man like him.

Now he was drawing nearer. The bosom of his dress shirt gleamed brightly. His Tuxedo fitted him like a glove. His tie was immaculate. He bent over her caressingly. What was he saying?

"Here is your check, madam; do you wish anything else?"

Bobby: "These young widows have an advantage over you girls, because they know all about men."

Alfred: "Yes, and because the only men who know them are dead ones."

Miss Teacher: "Stubby, I am punishing you because I love you."

Stubby: "Gee, teacher, I wish I was big enough to return your love!"

Edith: "I saw Helen yesterday, and we had the loveliest confidential chat together."

Blah: "I thought so; she wouldn't speak to me today."

White Elmer Jenkins was travelling to Vancouver, and passing through the Connaught tunnel, a funny incident occurred.

The train had faintly emerged from the thickness of the long tunnel. The conductor noticed a young couple, both of whom were apparently quite flustered, and the young woman was nervously rearranging her dishevelled hair.

Thinking to put them at their ease, the conductor remarked pleasantly: "Did you know that that tunnel we just came through cost millions of dollars?"

"Did it?" inquired the girl. Then she added, after a pause, "Well it was worth it, wasn't it, dear?"

"Well, John," the doctor said one morning on his arrival, "what is your master's temperature this morning?"

"Indeed, sir," replied the servant, "I should not like to say, sir. He died of the night."

The teacher was giving a lesson on modern inventions.

"Now, Mike," she said, "can you tell me one thing of importance which did not exist fifty years ago?"

"No," was the prompt reply given by Mike.

A woman is as old as she looks. When a man as old as I am, remarks Bill Tierney, he stops looking.

251 CLAIMANTS TO $35,000.000

LONDON—The romantic story of a disputed inheritance which in 1857 amounted to £35,000,000, and has greatly increased since, while lying at compound interest in the Bank of England, comes from Vienna.

Herr Velskopf, a Jewish merchant, who lived in the Bavarian township of Rotkreuz in 1780, made a fortune by selling horses to the armies of German princelings. He fell into disfavor, was arrested, and beheaded, leaving three sons and a daughter.

The daughter married a cattle dealer named Levi, and the couple later went to London, where Frau Levi inherited the fortune on the death of her husband. She had no children, and tried to persuade her brothers, then living in Hungary and Rumania, to send over some of their children to London in order that she might adopt them.

ADMINISTERING AN ESTATE IS A BUSINESS IN ITSELF

When you are debating with yourself whether to name an individual or a Trust Company, as Executor of your will and trustee of your estate, bear in mind this vital distinction.

With most individuals executorship is a side issue, for which they have no special preparation. Administering wills and managing estates is the business of a Trust Company for which it has been organized and is especially equipped.

The parents were unwilling to do so, and refused to answer Frau Levi's letters, finally leaving them unopened.

Letters came from her lawyers, but they were preserved unopened for twenty-five years, when children opened them to discover that Frau Levi had died in 1857, leaving the fortune in question.

The lapse of twenty-five years complicated matters because the families had increased, and five fresh branches, leaving the news, put in their claims. Hopes of a settlement ran high when the war upset the negotiations.

Proceedings have now been reopened in England, but the number of claimants has increased to 251, all of whom have temporarily abandoned their differences in order to approach a firm of London solicitors with a view to obtaining the money.

"Sign for Safety"

The Second Series of Wheat Pool Contracts

SAFETY because it is a farmer-owned and controlled co-operative Association which markets over fifty per cent of Canada's wheat crop.

SAFETY because it guarantees to the farmer every cent paid by the consumer minus only the minimum cost of marketing.

SAFETY because it increased the farmers income and independence by giving him a voice in the selling of his crop.

SAFETY because it insures the farmer against the losses and uncertainties caused by fluctuating speculative markets.

SAFETY because of low handling costs. The total annual expenses of operating the Alberta Wheat Pool in 1923, 1924 and 1925 was less than one-half a cent per bushel. The total expense of the Central Selling Agency in 1925-26 was one-fifth of a cent per bushel.

SAFETY because the Pool employs experts to handle and sell its grain.

SAFETY because Pool elevators guarantee fair weights, grades and dockage and good service.

SAFETY because the Pool merchandises wheat as the demand arises and thus avoids depressing values by offering more than the consumer will take at fair prices.

SAFETY because the sole aim of Pool salesmen is to get the true value of wheat for its members.

LACOMBE CORONATION HIGHWAY CLUB FORMED

Stirred to action by the bad condition of the district roads sixty representatives of boards of trade and municipal councils of eleven towns along the Lacombe-Coronation line responded in an energetic call by the Strathmore board of trade and met in Strathmore to form a Good Roads Association with the primary object of stimulating local interest in highway improvement and bringing pressure to bear upon the Government for more assistance in the work.

Charles H. Grant, K.C., of the Alberta Motor Association, attended the conference upon invitation and outlined the objects of the organization, with the result that a number of good roads enthusiasts from various parts of the district expressed a desire to link up with the provincial body at an early date. It is to be hoped that the Lacombe-Coronation will obtain better results than Strathmore, has been able to achieve in the matter of the Calgary-Medicine Hat comedy road.

Possibly the Provincial legislature member may have more influence than the representative for Clackson, Mr. John C. Buckley, who, up-to-date, has only been able to give us his good will and blessing, which, motorists inform us, is about as effective on a bad road as a snowball in hades.

Oh, boy, Mr. Buckley, and make them come across, or frankly admit that you cannot make any impression on the Department.

The roads have to be gotten in shape, and it might just as well be done in good time, and not after the elections because so enraged that they are ready to hang anyone who is either directly or indirectly concerned in keeping the road in a miserable condition.

Go get the necessary money by some means of taxation, and fix the roads and stop living years behind the times.

IT PAYS

TO STUDY MERCHANTS' STORY

The Winnipeg Pegasus says: We sometimes wonder how it is that a man goes up in the morning after dressing in an advertised manner on an advertised bed and pulls off advertised pyjamas; takes a bath in an advertised tub, washes with advertised soap, shaves with an advertised safety razor, using an advertised cream; puts on advertised underwear and socks adjusted with advertised garters; dons an advertised shirt and collar and shoes, and an advertised suit; indulges in breakfast on advertised cereal; drinks cup of advertised coffee; puts on advertised hat; lights an advertised cigarette; rides to the office in an advertised car with advertised tires; uses an advertised fountain pen at an advertised desk; dictates his letters to an advertised device and has them transcribed on an advertised type writer; reads advertised books and newspapers; attends advertised shows; deposits his money in advertised banks; and yet will sometimes be in doubt about advertising being a paying investment.

Barely the time has long since passed since it was a debatable question in regard to the benefits of good publicity, and the Weekly Home Newspaper has no superior. The most successful firms throughout the country are the biggest and most calculating advertisers. Merchants plan their buying very carefully, and use the medium of advertising to carry the story home to their own customers, and at the same time convey the same story home into the corner of their competitor's customer.

The advertising salesman, when properly used by the merchant, slowly becomes like market news, being as much so in the grain market or stock market quotations.

should certainly be enforced most stringently, without any favor, irrespective of the position that they may be open to occupy as citizens.

Make one outstanding example, and the future care of the park will no longer be a heart-break and a nightmare for the chairman of Town property, and a source of annoyance to every citizen who is anxious to see the home town becoming more attractive each season.

Mayor Strathmore may very well afford to spend some of the citizens money in securing the conviction of those, whether they belong to the thoughtless class, or are of a vicious type, in either class they need attention.

Go set one of them, make an example and troubles in that direction will cease.

Constant care, no doubt, could be stored long enough from his duties by the Provincial Police to accompany them, and see that they get good accommodation at Lethbridge, during which time they would have ample leisure in the evenings at least for meditation.

WHY NOT BUILD THE WHOLE ROAD

We note, that the generous Farmers' Government is reported as being willing to bear half the cost of building and maintaining any highway passing through a town or village if the same town or village will bear the other half.

The government of Alberta is to be complimented on their high policy. The increasing number of people coming to Alberta by motor each year and the immense benefits accruing to residents of the province because of these splendid highways does amply justify the expenditure that have been made.

Why, however, towns lying along these highways should have been discriminated against we have never been able to figure out.

The province as a whole, citizens of cities, towns and country will be required to pay for these roads through the regular avenues of taxation. Yet while all will pay, the roads have been built only in the country. They run to the very doors of the towns and villages and then stop and the town or village is expected to look up these highways.

It is no stronger than its weakest link. This is particularly applicable to the Calgary-Edmonton highway, which has not only a weak link, but several weak links, the worst of which are within the border of the towns along the road. Our own town has one of these weak spots and although the council from year to year has done its best to fix up the road it is still in a deplorable condition and requires to be properly constructed from the bottom up.

This road, it used only by the regular traffic of town and district, would be really maintained, but by reason of it being a part of the Calgary-Edmonton highway it has to carry considerable extra traffic. Yet we are asked by our government to build and maintain this link in the Provincial Public Highway.

We have seen that in fairness to all the towns and villages through which these Provincial Government highways pass that the Provincial Government should build and maintain the highway within their borders just as they have built and are maintaining these highways in the rural parts of the Province.

MANY DIAMOND JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS

Special celebrations commemorating the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation will be held in some sixty communities, large and small, throughout the province on July 1, according to information secured by the central committee in Edmonton. Literature has been sent out by the committee to all mayors, reveres and school teachers in the province in order to have this occasion celebrated as widely as possible.

ALBERTA FISHERIES ACTIVE IN 1926

The commercial fish industry in Alberta in 1926 experienced the greatest year in its history, according to Fisheries Inspector Rodd, who has made his report on the year's activities to the Dominion Government. The total commercial catch for last year, both winter and summer months amounted to 5,554,000 pounds, of which 3,825,000 pounds was summer catch and 2,324,000 pounds winter catch.

ways in the rural parts of the Province. Well, that very fully covers Strathmore's troubles on the Calgary-Medicine Hat highway. Someday the Government may have a change of heart. But when?

ALBERTA COAL IS POPULAR IN EAST

Alberta's Trade Commissioner,
Howard Stubbins, and W. W. Mc-Lean, chairman of the coal publicity committee, are meeting with splendid success in their efforts to establish Alberta coal on the Ontario market.
The Alberta Representatives have received assurances of strong support from leading public men, commercial organizations, and a national committee of prominent men has been named with headquarters in Toronto. With the coal rate hearing scheduled for June 7, there is genuine feeling of optimism that the coal industry in Alberta is on the eve of important development.
